“NATURE... IT'S NOT BIG... IT'S NOT CLEVER”

Since the dawn of television, humans have been trying to convince us that animals are incredible, majestic and amazing. But it turns out that those humans have been lying to us - and we can prove it. Hidden deep inside the basement of Nature TV HQ is a secret vault containing indisputable evidence that animals can actually be a bit rubbish. Concealed for decades, lie hundreds of tapes containing all the animal outtakes, fails and funnies that the humans don't want you to see...

...but Gary the dog is about to change all that!

Voiced by Alan Carr, Gary is on a mission to show the world what animals are really like. Broadcasting live from the vault, he will prove that wild animals aren't the clever, graceful and boring creatures that humans would have us believe. He's got a basement full of clips of pratt-falling pandas, moonwalking marmots and calamitous koalas... and he's not afraid to show them!

Each hilarious episode is jam packed with the wild world's greatest fails, fumbles and feral tomfoolery. And utilising state of the art VFX 'muzzle replacement' - Gary introduces the clips 'in vision' and also adds his own unique brand of voice-over.

In addition to our 'star' - a team of impressionists voice a wealth of comic characters in a show crammed full of animal antics, musical montages, beastly bloopers and David Attenborough getting very annoyed! So come and join us on the wildest ride the boring people never wanted you to see.

Come and meet the ...
